

Christmas Time-the Best Time of the year

It's December 18, 2020, and a single child is walking the streets of New York. Through huge crowds, expensive areas, and large parks. All the people he sees are laughing and happy, only he is sad! Suddenly it starts to snow, and everything is quickly covered with a white cover. The sky is dark now, and the most family's go home. It's getting colder and colder and the child hurries, it runs faster. Finally, it comes to a bright street with many different stalls with people wearing masks. He walks across the street behind the stalls and straight towards an old big house. Behind the windows you can see a huge Christmas tree and underneath it many colorful gifts. Many Kids are running around playing hide and seek. Now the boy also enters the hall. He is immediately greeted by the others and now an elderly lady comes into the room. She says: I have good news: you have been adopted. Merry Christmas!

Now the boy is also happy, it was the best Christmas for him in years.
